

Edgerton, WI

Edgerton is located about 22 miles south of Madison, and about 12 miles north of Janesville in south central Wisconsin. The community lies mostly in Rock County, although a small northern section is part of Dane County. A large number of historic homes are found here, built in the late 1800s, early 1900s, and additional construction continuing through the 1900s. More modern homes can be found as you move away from the downtown area. The community boasts a rich history, commitment to the arts, and close proximity to Lake Koshkonong and the Rock River. A significant portion of the real estate in Edgerton is historic homes. Farmhouses and bungalows are found along the town's center. Move further out and you'll find a good selection of ranch and more modern two-story homes. Larger homes and newer construction can be found around Lake Koshkonong and along the Rock River.
